I don't think there's any difference in meaning, although "free of charges" is much less common than "free of charge". Regarding your second question about context: given that English ...

For example, imagine some food company decides to make their fruits permanently free. Online, you can "order" them (for free), but in person, what do you do? What would be the ...

Similarly, "free education" is funded by the state (which is ultimately financed by taxpayers) and taught in state-run schools called state schools whereas schools that charge tuition ...

They feature power supply, distribution, and protection equipment as well as radio systems and passive or active cooling. Contact us today to learn about all the options and to find a solution that is right for ...

I want to make an official call and ask the other person whether he is free or not at that particular time. I think asking, "Are you free now?" doesn't sound formal. So, are there any alternatives ...

20kWh/40kWh Outdoor Hybrid Lithium ESS Battery Cabinet Widely used in applications from home to large C& I energy storage systems, suitable for power demand regulation and peak shifting.

The Base Station Energy Cabinet is a fully enclosed, weather-resistant telecom energy cabinet designed to provide reliable power distribution and battery backup for outdoor communication networks.

If so, my analysis amounts to a rule in search of actual usage--a prescription rather than a description. In any event, the impressive rise of "free of" against "free from" over the past 100 years ...

In the context such as "free press", it means libre from censorship, "gluten-free" means libre from gluten and so on. Then there is "free stuff", why is the same word used?
